

PRESIDENT WILSON FIRES HIS SECRETARY OF STATE

Request the Resignation of Secretary Lansing Accusing Him of Assuming Presidential Responsibility

Political Washington Bewildered by the Action of the President Will be Congressional Investigation

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 14.—Official Washington today was apparently bewildered by the sudden resignation of Secretary Lansing at the request of President Wilson, who charged his ranking cabinet officer with trying to assume presidential authority.

Not since the famous resignation of Wm. Bryan, on the eve of sending a submarine note to Germany, has a break in the president's official family caused so much discussion.

Talk of congressional investigation on which full stories of differences between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing would be had; the possibility of the resignation effecting the league of nations; settlement in the senate and the possibility of other cabinet officers were some of the things discussed in private. Administrative officials and congressmen however avoided any public utterance until after they have had more time to go into the resignation and events leading up to it.

The resignation of Lansing was announced at the state department late yesterday following an exchange of letters between Lansing and his chief.

In the course of these letters the president charged that Lansing by calling cabinet meetings during Wilson's illness was virtually trying to assume presidential authority.

It is pointed out that Wilson by condemning the order of cabinet meetings during his illness, indicates that he seeks to disavow responsibility for the injunction proceedings against the coal strike, a policy which has been widely condemned by labor.

Disclosures were believed imminent today in the controversy between Robert Lansing and President Wilson which resulted in the former's resignation as secretary of state.

Although President Wilson's announced reason for accepting Lansing's resignation was that the secretary had called and presided over cabinet meetings without authorization of the president, prolonged the friction over the contention of foreign affairs lead up to the final clash.

The full story of this long continued conflict between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing is expected to come to light during the next few days.

One of the first disclosures, it was learned, that perhaps will be made public, was the letter of resignation to Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Mexico. This letter is understood to be a criticism of Wilson's policy toward Mexico.

Its contents have been withheld. Not so much as a hint of its character has been permitted to leak out. Fletcher is understood to have favored the attitude toward Mexico which Lansing took during the negotiations over the imprisonment of Wm. Jenkins, American consular agent.

This attitude was changed later, supposedly at the instance of President Wilson, and exchange of notes with Mexico ceased.

A number of congressmen today were seeking means of bringing the Wilson-Lansing clash before the house or congress for discussion. No leader in either branch however appear anxious to take the initiative in such a move.

Frank Polk, under secretary of state, today took up the work of acting secretary. All foreign governments with which the United States has relations, were notified by the state department of Lansing's resignation and the fact that Polk is acting.

Polk is considered a likely candidate for Lansing's office, but it was believed probable Wilson would not send the nomination to the senate for several weeks unless there was an open discussion on the situation on the floor of congress.

It was learned from authoritative sources today, breaks between President Wilson and Lansing began while they were in Paris. When Wilson came back to Washington the first time, he left Lansing to carry on the work of negotiating peace. Upon Wilson's return he disagreed with many of the proceedings which had been participated in by Lansing as well as by Col. House. But he left Lansing in Paris again when he returned to America after the German treaty was signed. Later however, he recalled him and sent Polk to Paris to take his place.

The hostilities between Wilson and Lansing neared the breaking point, it was learned authoritatively, while the president was on his tour of the country speaking in behalf of the treaty ratification last September.

While the president was on that journey, W. C. Bullitt, a member of the American peace commission, testifying before the senate foreign affairs committee, concerning peace negotiations and his mission in Russia, made the statement that just before he left Paris for the United States, Lansing in conversing with him, said in effect that neither the senate nor the American people would approve the treaty if they knew what it "let them in for."

Lansing has never denied making such a statement.

Correspondence in Record
Senator Brandegee today inserted in the congressional record the correspondence between Wilson and Lansing. Many rumors as to the probable cause of Lansing's resignation were circulated in Washington today. One of them was that the entrance of John M. Payne into the cabinet, as secretary of interior, caused the resignation, that Payne and Lansing had quarreled in Paris over the shipping question. A permanent appointment to office of secretary of state must be made within thirty days. Officials of the department found that in the event of resignation or death, the second officer, who is Polk, becomes acting secretary for thirty days. Polk did not know whether the president had selected him as secretary.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Whether the senate will be able to reach an agreement on a reservation to Article X of the league of nations covenant will be decided within a day or two, senators today indicated.

It is not generally believed the resignation of Lansing revealing a wide breach between him and the president, will effect the course of the treaty although the irreconcilables are trying to make the most of it.

Senator Lodge today submitted to the republicans the two proposals. He personally declined to commit himself publicly on either proposition. He said the first and most necessary thing to do was to see how many votes the democratic program could demand.

Lodge today pointed out that President Wilson, in a letter to Hitchcock, read in the recent democratic caucus, said the form of reservations submitted to him some days earlier by Hitchcock was unfortunate.

This is the first of the two reservations the democrats have pledged themselves to vote for.

Which Will be Made Public Some Time Today---Union Leaders Are Preparing Statement as Reply

WAGES, COST OF LIVING START ON DOWN TRACK

Reduce Consumption, Get Ahead of Shrinkage Tide, or Face Panic, Avers Expert

The peak of high prices and wages has passed and the downward trend of living costs and wages has begun, Franklin Hobbs of Chicago, president of the largest banking business and crop statistical firm in the country, told delegates to the Associated Advertising clubs of Minnesota convention at the Spaulding Hotel in Duluth. Predicting that living costs will be lower in a year, Mr. Hobbs supported his assertions with statistics from reports gathered throughout the entire country. Montana, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin, in the order named, he asserted are already beginning to retrench.

"Wages are going down, prices are going down, the supply of money will diminish. If we can keep them going down together smoothly and evenly by using the wits the Lord gave us, we can make 1920 and 1921 the greatest years of prosperity this country ever saw," he said. "I do not believe that the union scale per hour for skilled labor will be reduced materially, if at all, but with the elimination of overtime and the reduction of working forces with greater efficiency from the workers on the job, the total wage cost for the year will be less than last year."

"The turning point in prices has been reached. Eight of 40 commodities which represent 50 cents of every dollar spent are cheaper than they were a year ago. These are corn, beans, hogs, horses, cement, tin, copper and rubber. Chickens and hay are at the same prices as a year ago. By July 1, I expect to see ten more drop to a point as low or lower than they were a year ago and the entire cost of living will be lower in a year."

Washington, Feb. 14.—Railroad union leaders have agreed upon their reply to President Wilson in the wage controversy, President B. M. Jewell of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, announced today.

The decision of the union men is for peaceful settlement of the controversy along the line suggested by President Wilson yesterday when he received the committee of three union leaders, it was said.

The president is understood to have told union men that their demands for an immediate increase of 40 per cent would not be granted at this time. The president however outlined a course of action which leaders understand would benefit ultimately the two million railroad workers.

The next number in the University lecture course, under the auspices of Rev. H. G. Carlson, will be "An Evening in Nippon" by genuine Japanese entertainers—Mr. and Mrs. Michitaro Onwaga. They do not describe Japan, but show actual scenes of Japanese life, with appropriate costumes and settings. They also give a playlet, "The Mirror, which is a comedy of ancient Japanese life.

As this number will require a stage, it will not be given in the Chamber of Commerce parlors, but in the high school auditorium. Press notices from eight different cities state that this number drew the largest audience of any in their several Lyceum courses. As both the box office and the critics pronounce this number a success, Brainerd is fortunate in having an opportunity to see the Onwagas. They will be here the evening of Feb. 23d.

Ellen Berglund, 501-9th St. So., celebrated her birthday on Feb. 12. The table was set for sixteen, and in the center was a birthday cake with ten candles determining her age. Her friends presented her with many useful articles and spent a joyful afternoon at her home.

Longevity and Right Living.

What is one man's meat may not be another man's poison, yet a dozen or more theories may be given as to how long life may be attained but all of such theories are constantly being set at naught by real facts. For instance a great austerity did not kill St. Anthony, who is said to have lived to be one hundred and five. Again the luxuries and dissipation of court life permitted Titian to paint an excellent picture when he was ninety-six years old. However, right living, while not so noticeable in any individual, has an undoubted influence to increase the length of life in the offspring.

UNUSUAL DRESS FOR MILADY

Navy blue serge with braid trim and double ruffle of plaited georgette with short length sleeves destined to become so popular.

SOME NEW NECK DECORATIONS

Single Great Stone, Usually an Emerald or Diamond, Swings From Slender Chain

Many young women are wearing, instead of pearls, a single great stone—usually an emerald or a diamond—swinging from a slender chain about the throat, says Harper's Bazar. Very striking is this great jewel, which is often oblong in shape and cut "square," instead of in innumerable facets.

The fashion of wearing brooches, revived since the armistice, has resulted in much work for the jewelers, who are busy resetting precious stones. The new brooch is designed obviously for the sole purpose of supplying the needed point of light to a dark frock, and is especially effective on frocks of black velvet or tulle. In fact, it would almost seem that the diamonds had fallen out of the tiara and attached themselves to the frock—at which we all rejoice. After all, what was ever more rigid and senseless in the way of an ornament than the old tiara with its stiff arrangement of gems?

TWO UNUSUAL SUIT MODELS

Toward-the-Front Effect Is Featured in Outfits Which Are Smart and Graceful.

Bernard has made some odd suits, perfectly flat from neck to ankle at the back, while the front of the skirt flares and ripples from gathering at the beltline, and the front of the box coat flares forward like the skirt. Rather a weird way to make a suit, but somehow or other it is smart and graceful.

Bullock has also put out a model with this toward-the-front effect, a blue serge model with rabbit fur trimming. Both coat and fur-bordered tunic slope downward in an oblique line from front to back. Perhaps most interesting of all French models are the georgette frocks with flounced skirts made of rather stiff silk. There are flounced frocks of metal lace also, and all these georgette creations are so graceful and coquettish and feminine that they will surely "take" with womankind.

COMBINATIONS ARE IN FAVOR

Scarf and Skirt and Coat Arrangements Are to Be Among the Spring Novelties.

The lines being shown to skirt buyers for next spring feature new materials rather than marked changes in design. Plaited and shirred effects still predominate in the new offerings, some of which feature novel pocket arrangements. Panel patterns are still considered good, although the aim of the skirt designers appeared to be that of producing garments along simple lines. Among the novelties are skirt and scarf and skirt and coat combinations, principally in the sport clothes department. These combinations are made of the same material. Specialists in summer and resort wear designs put gabardine in first place.

New Parisian Fad.

There is a new fad over in Paris—that of the carrying of charming French dolls instead of dogs. At the Claridge recently was a very attractive doll, dressed exactly like the girl who was carrying it. All the women were in ecstasies over it. There is also a new bracelet quite popular in Paris, of tortoise, inlaid with pearl, and really quite beautiful. Ankle bracelets are seen now and then, and one also sees a watch in the same place once in awhile.

Aid Your Liver

will stimulate the lazy liver into healthy action and help it to eliminate the poisonous matter that's making you ill.

Mild but effective

Trinket for the Workbasket.

A quaint and useful little novelty for a workbasket can be made with a tiny doll, half of a colored birthday candle and a quarter of a yard of baby ribbon. It represents a dressed doll, whose skirt of wax is meant to serve a familiar purpose in the workbasket. Melt the candle in a small tin and pour it while hot into a thimble. When the wax is almost hard, press the tiny doll into it, feet first, and hold it there until the wax hardens. Next, place the thimble in hot water for an instant, and pull until the molded doll in the form of a skirt. To finish the trinket, cross the ribbon over the doll's waist and tie it at the back.

If You Want a Straw Hat.

So used have we become to seeing straw hats in midwinter and furs in summer that we think nothing of it when the smart hat shops offer straw and sports things in midwinter as the only things entirely new. A new hat is of rose colored hemp, faced with rose georgette, and attractively embroidered in wool and silk.

Holland has begun to produce salt from wells drilled experimentally in two provinces, and may be able to obtain enough for all its needs.

Catarthal Deafness Cannot be Cured, by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarthal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarthal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarth, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarth Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarthal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarth Medicine. Circulars free. All

"AN EVENING IN NIPPON"

Next Number of University Lecture Course to be Given at High School Auditorium

CEMETERY OF THE FUTURE

Cemeteries are not cheerful places. Burial lots are cared for during two or three generations and then too commonly are neglected. Weeds cover the graves and fallen tombstones are allowed to lie. The long-dead are forgotten.

Dr. David Fairchild, a distinguished government scientist, urges a new departure. He thinks that cemeteries should be made attractive and that the principal feature of a great city burying ground ought to be a beautiful building somewhat resembling a library, with alcoves and quiet nooks.

Instead of book-stacks it would have fireproof vaults containing personal records of members of the families whose lost ones are buried under flat stones amid the charming surroundings of a vast garden. These records would include all kinds of data relating to the dead—accounts of their most noteworthy doings, photographs, etc.

"Cannot you imagine," says Dr. Fairchild, "strolling into the hall of the dead, to find there, in their proper place, all of the personal records of your family for generations back? There are the photographs of your grandparents, of departed uncles and aunts, or little ones who did not live to grow up, all with stories of their lives attached and letters and anecdotes."

"With these might be preserved photographic records of the voices of the dead, so that they could be heard to talk; and rooms might be fitted up for privately viewing moving pictures of the departed, who would thus be made to 'come alive again.'"

The dead could thus be made, in a sense, to live on indefinitely. Between the living generation and the past would be established a definite and permanent tie.

ADVERTISE IN THE DISPATCH

The Appeal of the Church

The church has a commission from God to bear to the people of all nations His message of salvation, to lead sinners, everywhere, to the Savior of the world. This is God's way of salvation.

What shall come to this troubled and sin-sick world if the church be faithless in her mission? If she gives stones for bread? If she give the erring wisdom of man for the word of the living God?

Are you doing your share to help the church faithfully carry out her mission? If not, why not?

Lincoln was not a godless man, nor was Washington. Why should you be? Suppose you fail in your obligation to God, and many fail with you! Shall we look into the future with the hope of God's blessing as a godless people?

Inventor Who Hopes to Get Message From Mars

In the hope of picking up a message from Mars or whatever planet it is from which it is thought signals are being received by the Marconi plant, James Harris Rogers of Hyattsville, Md., inventor of underground and undersea wireless, will attempt his plan to take messages of wave lengths up to 150,000 metres. This is 50,000 metres longer than the wave lengths used by the Marconi plant. The Hyattsville inventor placed his discoveries in the hands of the government unreservedly during the war.

Have You a Little Coat?
 Ever see the Mexican coat? At the present time there is no mounted specimen of this animal on exhibition in the United States National museum, and there are very few reliable cuts of it extant, writes Dr. R. W. Shufeldt in the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The coat has a long and flexible snout, and the general elongation of the body and tail. It is about the size of a large cat, and it is said it has a habit of gnawing off its tail at the root; but the writer cannot in any way vouch for this. The coats are excellent climbers, and they feed upon honey, insects, eggs, various fruits and vegetables, small quadrupeds, and probably upon other animals.

Big Day in American History.
 In 1789 the constitutional convention reassembled after the Constitution had been approved by the necessary nine states. The second Wednesday in January, 1789, which fell upon the 7th, was named as the day on which the states should choose the electors who were later to vote for the first president and vice president. All the electors chosen, both Federalists and anti-Federalists, were unanimously for Washington, so the contest narrowed down to the election of a vice president. Out of 11 candidates John Adams was elected the first vice president.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Park Monday and Tuesday

What is stated to be the prettiest entertainment to visit here this season, and possibly seasons past, is the coming of William Fox's $1,000,000 "A Daughter of the Gods," with Annette Kellerman as the star of the picture and the famous sea nymphs in person.

Special scenery, music, pretty girls and costumes are announced as the features extraordinary of this entertainment. A company of handsome models, and wardrobe comprises the outfit, and it is billed as a musical melange of beauty, grace and charm.

It is a sort of a Follies with motion picture atmosphere and predicted to be one of the season's events.

Christmas Eve Calamity.

He had been spending Christmas eve with his brother in London, and when, late that same night, he returned to his wife—Mrs. Brown—his face was strangely pale and haggard. "What is it, dear?" exclaimed the wife.

"I will tell you. It happened while we were at dinner. We were all eating in quite ordinary fashion when suddenly little Dorothy uttered a cry of distress and closed her eyes. Almost at the same instant my sister-in-law pressed her hand to her forehead and tears streamed down her face. As I gazed at her in alarm, my brother John threw up his arms with an exclamation of intense pain and then buried his face, over which a sharp spasm appeared to be passing. In his napkin."

"Poisoned!" gasped Mrs. Brown, with hysterical symptoms.
 "No, my dear," replied Mr. Brown, with ghastly calmness. "Horseradish."—London Tit-Bits.

Tale of the Olden Days.
 In a five and ten-cent store a wobbly individual stood in front of a counter on which was displayed a number of mechanical toys.
 Picking up a large bug, he asked the girl behind the counter:
 "How much is this?"
 "Ten cents," the girl replied, and then she asked, curiously:
 "Taking it home to your little boy?"
 "No," the man returned. "I got other uses for it."
 "I wonder what?"
 "I want to take it with me to a banquet."
 "To a banquet?"
 "Yes. A wine supper."
 "What's the idea?"
 "Every time I take a drink I am going to put this bug on the table in front of me."
 "Uh, uh—"
 "And when I see two bugs I'll know it is time to go home."—Youngstown Telegram.

Snow Doughnuts.

Snow doughnuts are now to be classed with wind-formed snow-rollers as among the natural phenomena of winter. W. A. Price of the West Virginia geological survey, records that in a heavy snow fall of 1916-17 some roadside fences were covered with steep-walled drifts, having overhanging tops in places. From many of these tops numbers of snow rings, resembling doughnuts, had become detached and rolled down the drift, leaving their tracks behind. The rings were two to four inches in diameter and half an inch thick. The tongues of snow had bowed over from the top until their two ends met, and the completion of the ring seems to have been a matter of balance during the bending forward and rolling down. Some fragments had broken away and rolled on their sides without forming rings.

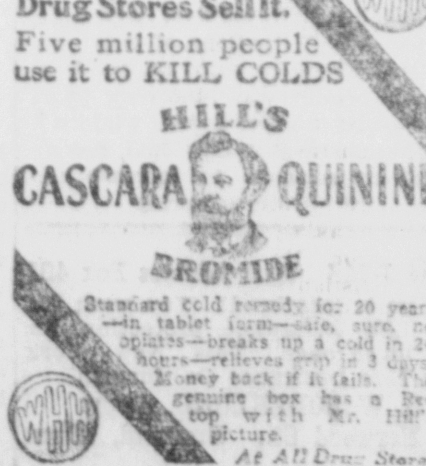

New Insulating Material.
 A new product suitable for use in electrical insulation is being obtained from the treatment of kelp in Australia. The moist precipitate is subjected to pressure and formed under pressure, after which it is hardened by treatment with formalin. The finished article is made by turning on the lathe, a process which is said to be perfectly satisfactory, and a high polish is applied. The raw material is to be found in large quantities around the coast of Australia and particularly on the Tasmanian shores.—Scientific American.

Stoneless Prunes.

The stoneless prune, a new product, is promising to become a popular fruit.

ACTUAL U-BOAT ATROCITIES SHOWN

Most Remarkable War Picture, Actual Happenings of U-Boat Sinkings Shown

AT THE NEW PARK THEATRE

Merchant Vessels of the Allies Shelled, Blown up, Torpedoed and Bombed in Mid-Ocean

The most remarkable pictures of the world war are shown at the New Park theatre Friday and Saturday. They picture the U-boat 35 on its tour of torpedoing and shelling allied merchantmen on the high seas.

For cold blooded work on the part of the Germans, they took the pictures themselves, the career of this U-boat is unparalleled.

These pictures which were taken to show the Kaiser the way his wasps of the sea were working, were captured by English sub-chasers after a running fight in which the U-35 was captured, and it is by special permission of the British Admiralty that these mid-ocean scenes were given to the American public.

The U-35 is shown leaving her base February 1, 1917. Shortly after follows the sinking of the Italian steamer Stromboli, bombs being used. The Greek steamer India loaded with coal was sunk next.

Then came a boat loaded with 3,832 tons of sugar. That means 7,764,000 pounds of sugar sunk, and everyone knows how scarce sugar is now.

A picture touching the heart strings is to see a sailing vessel, the "Miss Morris" held up, scuttled and sunk. The "Brisbane River" is shelled.

Friends of F. S. Workman viewed the scenes when shown at the Best theatre Friday noon and were his guests at luncheon following.

One scene that impressed them was the sinking of a big steamer. Passengers are seen running to the bridge and as the huge ship settles they can be observed clinging to rigging and then being engulfed in the waves.

Ships sink stern first, some bow first and in the last sinking shown a giant vessel has its boilers exploding and bow first actually upends in a vertical position and then slips into the depths of the ocean.

Crews of vessels sunk are set adrift in small boats while others, as shown in the pictures, must have perished miserably with their vessels. The U-35 destroyed 21 steamers, some half dozen sailing vessels and captured and brought to port five English captains.

The pictures close with congratulatory telegrams by Hindenburg and Mackensen proclaiming that the U-boat campaign would bring victory. However, man proposes and God disposes.

This picture will be shown again tonight at the Park theatre.

CHURCH MEETING IN BRAINERD SOON

Duluth Association of Congregational Churches to Meet in Brainerd on Feb. 18th

FOLLOWING NATIONAL CALL

Inter-Church World Movement of the Protestant Churches to be Fully Explained

The ministers of the Duluth Association of Congregational churches will meet in the First Congregational church, Brainerd, on Wednesday, February 18, on a call from the national commission in charge of the Congregational World Movement.

The pastors of the other Associations of the State Conference are getting together in this way. The pastors of the other denominations are meeting at the call of their organizations. These meetings have as their aim the inspiration of the pastors of the churches, together with a statement of the purposes of the various denominations in the Inter-church World Movement, that the pastors inspired and informed may bring to their people the large aims and hopes of the Protestant churches allied in a great movement for the largest program both local and world wide that the churches of America have ever attempted to put into operation.

Mr. Taft, speaking in Minneapolis on Wednesday evening, said: "Now how is the natural and indispensable impulse of selfishness in human nature to be moderated so as to prevent our civilization from becoming a more and more material and sordid one? By the influence of religion—by the foresight of intelligence and education—by the perception that happiness does not consist in mere physical comfort and the accumulation of wealth to furnish it, and that success of this kind without the love of God, is a completely unsatisfying thing." Thus spoke the voice of an ex-President of the United States. That the churches may be led in meeting this challenge to the church, is the purpose of these conferences.

BOOKS WANTED FOR SANATORIUM

(Aitkin Republican)

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. DeLaittre and Mrs. Robert Archibald were visitors last Sunday at the Aitkin-Crow Wing sanatorium near Deerwood, where they took part in a cheer-up program which was much appreciated by the twenty young persons there. Much to their surprise, they found that no reading matter, save two very good magazines and daily papers, had been provided for the institution. They promised Supt. Mattick to ask the people of Aitkin and Deerwood to contribute books and thereby make the stay of the bright young people there more pleasant.

Mrs. Archibald reports a gift of forty volumes by the Civic League of Deerwood; J. C. Hessian has very generously donated a dozen very instructive books, and Mrs. Hodgden and others are to contribute.

Little Girl Wins Potato Contest

A little eleven year old girl, Mayme Jyring, from the big county of St. Louis, is the state champion potato club member for 1919. Mayme planted an eighth of an acre to Rural New Yorkers. The yield was 83 bushels of good potatoes, or at the rate of 664 bushels to the acre. Her expense was $16.65, and her profit was nearly $66. Her prize will be a free trip to the boys' and girls' short course to be held at University Farm March 29 to April 3. In her story, "How I Raised My Crop of Potatoes," she says, "The potato growing contest has helped me and many other boys and girls to know how to grow potatoes in a new and better way than our parents."

Negro Refuses to Stay Dead

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 14—Daniel Clay, age 56, yesterday was a marked negro.

Two dusky undertakers are still pale as a result of Clay sitting up on an embalming slab and demanding his clothes—he had been taken for dead.

Wednesday afternoon Daniel's brother found him in bed, cold, stiff and his head and arms hanging over the side of the bed. A physician pronounced him dead of the flu and he was carried away in a "dead basket." One hour passed, and at night as the embalmers were working in their shop Clay sat up wide eyed and demanded his clothes.

First Roman Emperor.

During the life of Christ on earth two emperors ruled the Roman empire of which the Holy Land or Palestine was part. At the time of the birth of Christ, Augustus was emperor. He was the grand nephew of Julius Caesar, and before coming to the throne was known as Octavius. He was the first emperor. He died in the year 14 of the Christian era, and was succeeded by Tiberius, a stepson of Augustus. He lived until the year 37 A. D. and was on the throne at the time of the crucifixion. For many years after the establishing of the empire, each emperor bore the title Caesar as well as his own name.

Nothing but Victrolas

When the Victor Company, because of the great demand for Victrolas, was unable to supply their agents with machines, our inclination was to add some other make of talking machine to supply the demands of our trade.

Better judgement prevailed and we decided to lose sales rather than sell our customers any other machine

The wisdom of our decision is being demonstrated by the experience of other Victor dealers. Those dealers who substituted other makes for Victrolas are now being requested by their customers to exchange their talking machines for Victrolas.

The absolute supremacy of the Victrola becomes evident to those who become familiar with the superior tone of the Victrola and its faithful reproductions.

We are now receiving more Victrolas and can supply the $25.00, $35.00, $70.00, $110.00 and $130.00 sizes.

BUDGET SYSTEM CHAMBER COMMERCE

The budget committee of the Chamber of Commerce will, in the near future, call upon the public for subscriptions to the budget fund. Just how will this money that you donate be used? No doubt you are asking. "What will I get in return for this money so given?"

Each citizen should be broad-minded enough to see that everything done to promote the city of Brainerd and our own county, is directly advancing his own interests.

When Brainerd is widely advertised and its possibilities and opportunities learned of abroad, it brings outside capital here, and you personally benefit.

When manufacturing, wholesaling and jobbing institutions are attracted to our city property values increase, and your interests are benefited.

When new settlers are drawn to Crow Wing county, opening up what are now unused lands, you receive the benefit.

And so on down the line, everything that helps to make ours a better city and county helps you to a greater extent than you may imagine.

Take for example community development, the Chamber of Commerce is continually receiving requests for information, literature and advice about our resources. To handle these inquiries as they should be handled, quite a sum ought to be set aside in a fund especially for this purpose.

With a given amount in such a fund, it will be possible to get the maximum results for the money spent and the committee in charge of such fund can intelligently handle a community development campaign.

Just such a fund is provided for in the new Chamber of Commerce budget system. A part of the money contributed in the coming budget drive will be set aside in this particular fund, and it is impossible to estimate the returns that we as a community and each citizen individually will receive. Truly, it is money well placed, the best investment you can make. Be ready with a liberal sum when the committee calls on you.

Alcohol and Plants.

By means of a magnetic lever rotating a delicately poised astatic needle that actuates a small mirror, the cinematograph can give a magnification of 1 to 1,000,000,000. Its inventor, Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose, has used it to show the actual "crescent" process of plants. Like the movement of a glacier, the growth of a plant is an actual progress, difficult, maybe, to measure, but measurable nevertheless, and there is no reason why Sir Jagadis' invention should not be turned to very important uses. He showed on the screen that the use of alcohol had a curiously erratic effect in the growth of the plant and by so much was out of all harmony with the plant's "natural," that is, normal and harmonious, processes. How far the inventor has pushed his investigations is not told. At all events, by his logical research he has thrown a curious light on those Indian jugglers that were believed to make a flower grow before the eyes of the spectator.

ACTION TAKEN AGAINST VILLAGE

(Royalton Banner)

Papers were served last Saturday upon the village, through the village council, by Howard Kinney for damages received by the plaintiff while fighting fire at the Commercial hotel Feb. 9, 1919.

The plaintiff asks for $9.45 per week for eighty-seven and one-half weeks, to reimburse him for time lost while incapacitated, and $100 for medical expense.

The case will be brought up in district court at Little Falls on April 13, unless satisfactory settlement is made before that time.

The grounds upon which Howard Kinney is taking action, is based upon the argument that while he was not a member of the Royalton volunteer fire department, he was requested by a member to assist with the hose in extinguishing a fire at the Commercial hotel. While working on the roof of the building he slipped and fell to the ground and suffered a broken limb.

Honor May Go to Africa.

Ancient Egypt, sharing with ancient Babylonia and Crete the distinction in the world's thought of being, one of the other of them, the first seat of a flourishing civilization, may yet yield the distinction to some spot in Africa, perhaps the city of Benin, or perhaps some ruin yet undiscovered. Benin, whose great stone buildings surprised Portuguese explorers in 1482, has of later years given archeologists a vivid interest in this part of British West Africa. Objects found there show a method of casting bronze that was practiced by the early Egyptians, and evidence accumulates that the civilization of Benin may have fore-run Egypt or Babylon, to say nothing of Crete.

Crews of vessels sunk are set adrift in small boats while others, as shown in the pictures, must have perished miserably with their vessels. The U-35 destroyed 21 steamers, some half dozen sailing vessels and captured and brought to port five English captains.

The pictures close with congratulatory telegrams by Hindenburg and Mackensen proclaiming that the U-boat campaign would bring victory. However, man proposes and God disposes.

This picture will be shown again tonight at the Park theatre.

CHURCH MEETING IN BRAINERD SOON

Duluth Association of Congregational Churches to Meet in Brainerd on Feb. 18th

FOLLOWING NATIONAL CALL

Inter-Church World Movement of the Protestant Churches to be Fully Explained

The ministers of the Duluth Association of Congregational churches will meet in the First Congregational church, Brainerd, on Wednesday, February 18, on a call from the national commission in charge of the Congregational World Movement.

The pastors of the other Associations of the State Conference are getting together in this way. The pastors of the other denominations are meeting at the call of their organizations. These meetings have as their aim the inspiration of the pastors of the churches, together with a statement of the purposes of the various denominations in the Inter-church World Movement, that the pastors inspired and informed may bring to their people the large aims and hopes of the Protestant churches allied in a great movement for the largest program both local and world wide that the churches of America have ever attempted to put into operation.

Mr. Taft, speaking in Minneapolis on Wednesday evening, said: "Now how is the natural and indispensable impulse of selfishness in human nature to be moderated so as to prevent our civilization from becoming a more and more material and sordid one? By the influence of religion—by the foresight of intelligence and education—by the perception that happiness does not consist in mere physical comfort and the accumulation of wealth to furnish it, and that success of this kind without the love of God, is a completely unsatisfying thing." Thus spoke the voice of an ex-President of the United States. That the churches may be led in meeting this challenge to the church, is the purpose of these conferences.

(Aitkin Republican)

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. DeLattre and Mrs. Robert Archibald were visitors last Sunday at the Aitkin-Crow Wing sanatorium near Deerwood, where they took part in a cheer-up program which was much appreciated by the twenty young persons there. Much to their surprise, they found that no reading matter, save two very good magazines and daily papers, had been provided for the institution. They promised Supt. Mattick to ask the people of Aitkin and Deerwood to contribute books and thereby make the stay of the bright young people there more pleasant.

Mrs. Archibald reports a gift of forty volumes by the Civic League of Deerwood; J. C. Hession has very generously donated a dozen very instructive books, and Mrs. Hodgden and others are to contribute.

TUBERCULOSIS CLINIC DATES

Little Girl Wins Potato Contest

A little eleven year old girl, Mayme Jyring, from the big county of St. Louis, is the state champion potato club member for 1919. Mayme planted an eighth of an acre to Rural New Yorkers. The yield was 83 bushels of good potatoes, or at the rate of 664 bushels to the acre. Her expense was $16.65, and her profit was nearly $66. Her prize will be a free trip to the boys' and girls' short course to be held at University Farm March 29 to April 3. In her story, "How I Raised My Crop of Potatoes," she says, "The potato growing contest has helped me and many other boys and girls to know how to grow potatoes in a new and better way than our parents."

Negro Refuses to Stay Dead

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 14—Daniel Clay, age 59, yesterday was a marked negro.

Two dusky undertakers are still pale as a result of Clay sitting up on an embalming slab and demanding his clothes—he had been taken for dead.

Wednesday afternoon Daniel's brother found him in bed, cold, stiff and his head and arms hanging over the side of the bed. A physician pronounced him dead of the flu and he was carried away in a "dead basket." One hour passed, and at night as the embalmers were working in their shop Clay sat up wide eyed and demanded his clothes.

First Roman Emperor.

During the life of Christ on earth two emperors ruled the Roman empire of which the Holy Land or Palestine was part. At the time of the birth of Christ, Augustus was emperor. He was the grand nephew of Julius Caesar, and before coming to the throne was known as Octavius. He was the first emperor. He died in the year 14 of the Christian era, and was succeeded by Tiberius, a stepson of Augustus. He lived until the year 37 A. D., and was on the throne at the time of the crucifixion. For many years after the establishing of the empire, each emperor bore the title Caesar as well as his own name.

Nothing but Victrolas

When the Victor Company, because of the great demand for Victrolas, was unable to supply their agents with machines, our inclination was to add some other make of talking machine to supply the demands of our trade.

Better judgement prevailed and we decided to lose sales rather than sell our customers any other machine

The wisdom of our decision is being demonstrated by the experience of other Victor dealers. Those dealers who substituted other makes for Victrolas are now being requested by their customers to exchange their talking machines for Victrolas.

The absolute supremacy of the Victrola becomes evident to those who become familiar with the superior tone of the Victrola and its faithful reproductions.

We are now receiving more Victrolas and can supply the $25.00, $35.00, $70.00, $110.00 and $130.00 sizes.

BUDGET SYSTEM CHAMBER COMMERCE

The budget committee of the Chamber of Commerce will, in the near future, call upon the public for subscriptions to the budget fund. Just how will this money that you donate be used? No doubt you are asking, "What will I get in return for this money so given?"

Each citizen should be broad-minded enough to see that everything done to promote the city of Brainerd and our own county, is directly advancing his own interests.

When Brainerd is widely advertised and its possibilities and opportunities learned of abroad, it brings outside capital here, and you personally benefit.

When manufacturing, wholesaling, and jobbing institutions are attracted to our city property values increase, and your interests are benefited.

When new settlers are drawn to Crow Wing county, opening up what are now unused lands, you receive the benefit.

And so on down the line, everything that helps to make ours a better city and county helps you to a greater extent than you may imagine.

Take for example community development, the Chamber of Commerce is continually receiving requests for information, literature and advice about our resources. To handle these inquiries as they should be handled, quite a sum ought to be set aside in a fund especially for this purpose.

With a given amount in such a fund, it will be possible to get the maximum results for the money spent and the committee in charge of such fund can intelligently handle a community development campaign.

Just such a fund is provided for in the new Chamber of Commerce budget system. A part of the money contributed in the coming budget drive will be set aside in this particular fund, and it is impossible to estimate the returns that we as a community and each citizen individually will receive. Truly, it is money well placed, the best investment you can make. Be ready with a liberal sum when the committee calls on you.

Alcohol and Plants.

By means of a magnetic lever rotating a delicately poised astatic needle that actuates a small mirror, the crescograph can give a magnification of 1 to 1,000,000,000. Its inventor, Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose, has used it to show the actual "crescent" process of plants. Like the movement of a glacier, the growth of a plant is an actual progress, difficult, maybe, to measure, but measurable nevertheless, and there is no reason why Sir Jagadis' invention should not be turned to very important uses. He showed on the screen that the use of alcohol had a curiously erratic effect in the growth of the plant and by so much was out of all harmony with the plant's "natural" that is, normal and harmonious, processes. How far the inventor has pushed his investigations is not told. At all events, by his logical research he has thrown a curious light on those Indian jugglers that were believed to make a flower grow before the eyes of the spectator.

(Royall Banner)

Papers were served last Saturday upon the village, through the village council, by Howard Kinney for damages received by the plaintiff while fighting fire at the Commercial hotel Feb. 9, 1919.

The plaintiff asks for $9.45 per week for eighty-seven and one-half weeks, to reimburse him for time lost while incapacitated, and $100 for medical expense.

The case will be brought up in district court at Little Falls on April 13, unless satisfactory settlement is made before that time.

The grounds upon which Howard Kinney is taking action, is based upon the argument that while he was not a member of the Royall volunteer fire department, he was requested by a member to assist with the hose in extinguishing a fire at the Commercial hotel. While working on the roof of the building he slipped and fell to the ground and suffered a broken limb.

Honor May Go to Africa.

Ancient Egypt, sharing with ancient Babylon and Crete the distinction in the world's thought of being, one or the other of them, the first seat of a flourishing civilization, may yet yield the distinction to some spot in Africa, perhaps the city of Benin, or perhaps some ruin yet undiscovered. Benin, whose great stone buildings surprised Portuguese explorers in 1482, has of later years given archeologists a vivid interest in this part of British West Africa. Objects found there show a method of casting bronze that was practiced by the early Egyptians, and evidence accumulates that the civilization of Benin may have fore-run Egypt or Babylon, to say nothing of Crete.

CUPID'S MISTAKE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

The girl came, seated upon the back of a snow-white horse, down through an avenue of stately trees. Her golden hair gleamed beneath the close-fitting cap she wore, and her velvet habit seemed a part of the olden-time picture she made. As Marianna reached the stone wall which inclosed her father's estate she looked over its top to where the sea sparkled in the sunshine. And as the clatter of hoofs came to a stop, a young man sprang nimbly to the top of the wall, and sat there, gazing at Marianna, all eager-eyed and smiling.

The young man wore a khaki coat and carried beneath his arm a mandolin. Unsmiling and serious, the girl regarded him; but as the breeze lifted the heavy hair from the young man's forehead, and the engaging wistfulness of his countenance still besought her, Marianna came nearer and allowed him to assist her from the horse's back to a seat beside himself on the wall.

"Oh, princess," the young man said, earnestness underlying his whimsical tone, "I have waited long for thee. Even a poor minstrel may weary in patience."

"Don't, Tommy!" the girl cried sharply. "Do not remind me of the pretty game we have been playing. It must stop. Everything must stop. I may not come here to meet you any more. It was a reckless joy for us to indulge in. But I was so lonely in my father's great empty house; Tommy, you cannot know what it has meant to be imprisoned there all my life—no companions of my own age, only studies for diversion. Why, the day I rode down to the end of this path and found you here on the wall, singing—you remember, Tommy—and picking soft, thrilly notes on your mandolin, why—it was just like riding straight into a fairy story, Tommy, to a beautiful new adventure. You bowed and addressed me as 'Princess,' and when I asked who you might be, you replied: 'But a poor minstrel, your highness; at your service.' And when I came again and again to those happy, merry meetings, you confessed, sadly, that I was 'Highness' to you, because of my father's wealth. And you admitted that you were, in truth, a sort of poor minstrel, with a long journey to success before you, and not one earned penny to your name. We should have taken warning, boy, dear, that our delightful game of friendship could not last. This is, after all, a world of values and necessities, and even if I would give up my heritage and go away with you, Tommy, where and how could you take me? I am talking fast, dear, because I wish to say what I have to say quickly, and then—goodbye. For it must be goodbye forever. I'll remember always those spring mornings, with the scent of apple blossoms in the air and you bending down over the wall to talk to me. How I shall hate apple blossoms, Tommy, and the memory of your songs will stay with me, to make me long for you. You mustn't hold my hands, dear—I need them to cover my face while I tell you the truth: I am to be married, Tommy, and that is why it is goodbye. I am to marry an old man, selected for me by my father before I had seen your face; a kind man of prominence, of whom I am all unworthy. Though I have never learned your name, dear, nor in the secret joy of my romance have I sought to learn it, still you know the place my father holds in the world of men and the proud place he would have me fill. Oh! my dear," the girl's sweet voice broke utterly, "if you were not, indeed, just a strolling minstrel you have professed to be, at the last I would have defied them. Willingly I would have gone with you to the humblest home. But see; you have exacted no promise from me, Tommy; you have not asked me to wait. We had better say goodbye now. I shall be married, dear, before these flowers have faded."

The young man loosed the girl's hands, only to clasp her closely in his arms.

"Listen," he said fiercely, "before these flowers fade, you will be married to me—me, your strolling minstrel. Why, sooner than see you married to that old man, good as he is, I'd carry you in my arms straight over the garden wall. We have met, dear heart, and loved, because it was to be, Cupid aimed his arrows well. And if the first one went astray, well, that was his mistake. We will go to your father now, Marianna, and tell him all."

The girl drew back trembling. "You do not know my father," she whispered, "or his anger when frustrated."

The young man laughed exultantly as he lifted her down from the wall. "The old fellow whom your father wished you to marry is my uncle, dear," he said. "It was to please him that I became a continual student, so that I might fulfill the wish of his heart by succeeding him in politics. Last night we talked of you—he and I—and I told him of our love. I have a letter in my pocket from my uncle to your father. He is eager to give me my start. Later, all that he possesses shall be mine, because I have acceded to his desire."

"I am sorry," murmured the girl, "for the little wound in his heart."

"That," the young man confidently responded, "is already healed, in our happiness."

WHERE THE DON HELD SWAY

Palace of Santa Fe for Three Centuries Housed High Representatives of Spanish Power.

One of the interesting buildings at Santa Fe is the old palace of the governor, and from this building for 305 years Spain ruled a large part of North America now a part of the United States—Montana, part of Texas, part of Kansas, and part of Oklahoma.

It was built in 1606 by Juan de Onate, who was the great grandson of Montezuma, the Aztec emperor of ancient Mexico, and the grandson of Hernandez Cortez, the Spanish conqueror who subdued and took over the Aztec or Indian civilization of Mexico and, with the sword in one hand and the cross in the other, substituted Spanish civilization. El Palacio, as the building is termed in Spanish, was originally designed for a palace, castle and fortress.

Its vicissitudes during more than three centuries, under Spanish, Indian, Mexican and American rule, formed a most dramatic and thrilling chapter in the history of the nation. For three centuries it was not only the seat of government, but also the home of captains general and governors, their retainers and families, and from time to time it housed the dungeon, the jail, the post office, the legislature, the supreme court, the territorial secretary and family, the territorial law library and law offices. On every page of the history of the venerable edifice one finds romance, stirring incidents and important episodes, in which the figures of Spanish conquerors and Franciscan monks, Indian chieftains and American adventurers, soldiers, statesmen, authors, scientists and dainty society ladies step into the spotlight to vanish again as Father Time, grim and inexorable, swings his cycle.—Exchange.

MAN REALLY KNOWS LITTLE

Even the Wisest of the Human Race Amazingly Ignorant, Asserts a Writer in Boston Paper.

The wisest man in the world knows only tiny fraction of what there is to be learned, and the mass of human knowledge, painfully acquired and handed on since our far-off ancestors came down out of the trees, is only a faint glimmer in the midst of the dark unknown.

Much of the unknown is unknowable; a little of it, the human mind laboriously takes possession of as centuries pass.

Most of us are amazingly ignorant. We are like the classic example of the school children, coming their books, who couldn't tell what kind of wood their desks were made of.

Actually, we are afraid of seeming to know too much outside of the trodden ways; we despise the "high-brow."

And at the same time how contemptuous we are likely to be of some one who seems to be more ignorant than ourselves.

The man who has stopped learning is living at a standstill. Make everyone you meet your teacher, if you would get the most out of life. That boy scout, that venerable farmer, that sharp young salesman—each has a bit of special knowledge for you.

Be a student, even though your schooldays are in the remote past, and not a mere book student.—Boston Herald.

Frog Slept Seven Years.

After lying dormant for seven years in the solid concrete of a sewer manhole in Lodi, Cal., a frog took an hour's sunbath and then hopped away, according to the foreman of a gang of laborers repairing the streets there. The duration of the frog's long sleep is determined by the fact that the manhole was constructed seven years ago and had not been disturbed until torn out during the recent reconstruction work.

+ Veteran Coaches Already
+ Have the Columbia and
+ Cornell Crews at Work

JIM RICE

Cornell and Columbia oarsmen already are hard at it, although the spring regattas are months off. Under Charles E. Courtney, who at seventy is running rowing at Ithaca with his old-time vigor, the candidates are getting down to work on the machines with keen enthusiasm. Work has just been resumed by Columbia's veteran coach, Jim Rice, who says that the reduction of the distance at Poughkeepsie from four to three miles will not shorten the training period of the Blue and White for the intercollegiate regatta. He will give special attention to the "polly-wog" in the swimming pool until the crews move to their Harlem River quarters in the spring. The varsity crew will go to Poughkeepsie on June 7. It is considered likely that Courtney will turn out one varsity crew for the two mile races, one with Yale and Princeton and the other with Harvard, and another developed exclusively for the three-mile race at Poughkeepsie. He has nearly ninety candidates.

Foolish Visionaries.

Many there are who have fine visions and dream great dreams and do nothing else. When in the mood they are filled with splendid conceptions and ideals, in which they revel with passionate enthusiasm; but when they turn from their vision to the hard task their enthusiasm evaporates. These are the idealists who often plan great things for others and for themselves, but whose lives are barren of results and filled with disappointments. They are rightly labeled "visionaries," men who see much to do but do nothing. Shakespeare has created the type of such grand failure in Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, the type of the man who has visions but lacks obedience to the vision and resolution to carry it out.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Liniment

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 30 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

An Iowa Woman Testifies

Muscatine, Iowa.—"When in Oklahoma and waiting to build I was exposed to cold weather. I was not well and felt the need of some medicine to give new strength. Having seen Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised I procured and used one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription also. These two combined caused me to get stronger and to throw off the unpleasant effects of the exposure. I shall always speak highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies."

—Mrs. SARAH BARTON, 123 W. Front St.

A PROMINENT WOMAN FROM MINNESOTA

Duluth, Minn.—"I am a great believer in Dr. Pierce's medicines. I have taken 'Favorite Prescription' for weakness peculiar to women and found it very beneficial. I had taken other medicines for this ailment but did not get any relief. This medicine gave me the relief I was seeking. I also use the 'Pleasant Pellets' for disordered stomach, biliousness and headaches—there is nothing better. I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines from the actual use of them. I am taking 'Favorite Prescription' at the present time and it is doing me a world of good."—Mrs. R. TRAYER, 4027 W. 5th St.

THREE WOMEN IN COUNTY OFFICES

Three different county officials recently employed graduates of Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., as office assistants. The County Agent at Red Lake Falls, Minn., phoned the school for capable help. Miss Alice Westlin was sent. Miss Sophia Morken went to the County Auditor at Lakota, Miss Norma Melville to the County Treasurer at Cavalier.

Public and private offices throughout the Northwest give preference to well trained D. B. C. graduates.

ADVERTISE IN THE DISPATCH

"Cakes and Beer, and Washing Here"

Before a ramshackle house in a little New England village there used to hang this sign:

"Hiram, the widow's son, I hope
"Can furnish customers with soap,
"Such as will make the washing day
"Pass off as pleasant, e'en as May.
"Cakes, and beer, and washing here."

Hiram had the right idea. He knew that there were people who wanted what he had to sell. The difference between Hiram and the modern advertiser is that the former had to trust to somebody passing to see his sign. He could not bring his sign to everybody.

The modern advertiser with something to sell that he feels you want, saves you the trouble of going to his place to see about it. Readers of advertisements visit all the advertisers at a single sitting.

This is a service that those who advertise are rendering you, just as the clerks they hire, the deliveries they make, are service. They are saving your time, energy and money by bringing their establishments to you through the advertisements.

Read the advertisements with this thought in mind.
